Aljex, uFollowit partner

Mar 11, 2009 11:26 AM

Aljex Software has announced a partnership with uFollowit, under which Aljex users will be able to see uFollowit freight tracking and proof-of-delivery load updates through their management software.

According to the company, uFollowit delivers load location and status information through driver cell phones, whether they are GPS capable or not, while updates and voice print proof-of-delivery are provided through speed-dialed calls. Because it requires no hardware investment, the service is popular among 3PLs, freight brokers and owner-operators, Aljex said.

In addition, users that use Aljex's map-based application, TIN (Transportation Intermediary Network), can see the latest uFollowit updates displayed on their working map, the company said.
